

CLICK HERE TO SUBMIT YOUR WORK
TO MEDESIGNMAG.COM

Join us on Facebook

Follow us on Twitter

ROOTS RUG BY MATALI CRASSET FOR NODUS

0 Comments

Like

6 people like this. Be the first of your friends.

Matali Crasset has designed her first rug for Italian firm Nodus which will be on display in Paris at the upcoming Maison & Objet interiors fair.

And it's a bold one.

Called 'Roots', Crasset's design features a stylised root system of a tree against a deep green background; and even has their tips reaching over the edges of the rug.

Nodus have a pretty impressive roster of rugs already in production from big names like Studio Job, Luca Nichetto, Estudio Campana and James Irvine, so this latest collaboration is yet another string to their bow.

Not for the faint-hearted, but we think this new release is a whole lot of fun.

www.nodusrug.it

13 Jan 11 / M.E.

Tags: Products / Paris / Maison Et Objet 2011

Print Article

MILAN SALONE 2011

New launches at the 2011 Milan Salone Internazionale del Mobile.

NEW NEW ENGLAND

Designer Timothy Liles launched "New New England" at both the CITE showroom and Ace Hotel during last weekend's ICFF, and we like the playful...

20 May 10 | Products

SOFT DECEPTION

Exhibited at DMY Berlin earlier in the month, this series of chairs by Veronika Wildgruber are not quite what they seem at first glance. Anyone dropping...

21 Jun 10 | Content

SOFT TOPOGRAPHY

Bright, squashy and super fun; we think this is fantastic. 'The Carpet' by Dutch designer Laurens van Wieringen is a rug with a difference - constructed...

06 Aug 10 | Products

SUSTAINABLE WOOL FURNISHINGS BY FIVETIMESONE

Here's something fun to kick-start your morning; we love this selection of soft furnishings by Polish design collective Fivetimesone. Their range of seamless...

07 Oct 10 | Products

RELATED LINKS

PERMAFROST RUGS

It may seem odd for a Norwegian design firm to so readily embrace a staple of...